

Mediterranean Hospitality Forum
Toward the Sustainability in the Mediterranean Hospitality
23rd November 2018 – Casa Llotja de Mar – Barcelona

The Mediterranean Hotel & Hospitality Forum (MedaHotels Forum) will be one of the most important annual events in the calendar at Mediterranean Hotel and will play a significant part in driving the hospitality sector by bringing hoteliers together and facilitating partnerships among all stakeholders.

I. Rethinking the Hospitality Agenda in the Mediterranean Region

- ✓ The hotels and hospitality sector has an important role in shedding light on the Mediterranean's projections, which aims to welcome hundreds million visitors per year by the start of the next decade.
- ✓ Europe, Middle East and Africa EMEA volumes are predicted to reach $25 billion, with the region expected to remain the largest destination for offshore capital. The bulk of EMEA sales activity will be driven by single-asset transactions, which are expected to grow by 35%.

II. The Event

Hotels and hospitality have a great part to play in realizing Mediterranean's tourism sector and vision, which aims to welcome hundreds million visitors per year by the start of the next decade.

Hotels, restaurants and leisure facilities need to continue to invest in services and technology to help improve the guest experience. They must upgrade to technologies that have proven to add to revenues and reduce costs.

The forum will:

- ✓ Highlight successful strategies companies can use to make their hotel and tourism products more sustainable.
- ✓ Challenge businesses and governments to address their present travel policies, as well as demonstrating case studies and success stories from around the region and internationally.

Hotels, restaurants and leisure facilities need to continue to invest in services and technology to help improve the guest experience. In order to stay competitive, they must upgrade their technologies that will translate into added revenues and reduction of costs.

The 3rd edition of this forum will have an extensive programme offering the latest insight and market intelligence from Mediterranean and international speakers. Presentations will come from renowned industry experts highlighting solutions and initiatives already available, as well as discussing innovations that will drive the sector forward. It is the must-attend event for those looking to develop green hotel policies, projects and technologies or looking to make their existing operations more sustainable.

Moreover, attendees will get to network with people who face a similar challenge and those who offer a solution to their problems.

Together, facilitated by Meda Hotel Forum, we can reach and exceed our goals, and drive success and prosperity within the tourism industry as a whole. It is free to attend and will provide a platform so delegates can hear global hoteliers, restaurateurs. Leisure experts will be able to discuss and debate trends, challenges and vision.

Join us at the Meda Hotels Forum and stay on top by becoming part of recent trends and discover new technologies that could translate into a better experience for guests or customers
